

1. Play eye-catching instruments, such as an ocean-drum, in different positions to help visual tracking.

2. Use pictures of favorite songs, instruments, or singers during choice making.

IN TUNE WITH RETT SYNDROME:
5 ways to use music in therapy

5. Record the last word of a song on a switch & have her 'fill in the blank'
E-I-E-I...

3. Try a mallet-cuff, velcro wrist-bell, cabasa, or a chime-tree from www.westmusic.com

4. Add music instrument sound effects to stories to gain attention & focus

